MIS/READING

BEETHOVEN

Borders evaporate and improvisation builds bridges between works, creating a sensation of hovering free in the air: like birds —Svenska Dagbladet

In June 2019 Festival O/Modernt explores and 'misreads' – to appropriate from the literary critic Harold Bloom – the rich, diverse and complex reception of Beethoven's ever-looming musical and ideological presence. MIS/READING BEETHOVEN breaks down generic barriers in order to re-engage with Beethoven's extraordinary legacy, celebrating the work of his forebears and inheritors, and taking some exhilarating steps into the unknown.
